

2 October 2017

Re: Call for Organized Sessions, Individual Papers and Posters for the 2018 IGU-CAG Conference, Quebec City, Canada

To all IGU Commission and CAG Study Group Leaders,

On behalf of the Canadian Association of Geographers and the Department of Geography of the Université Laval in Quebec City, it gives me pleasure to write to you and the members of your commissions and study groups. As you may know, the 2018 IGU-CAG Conference will be held in Quebec City from August 6 to 10 2018. The theme of the conference is “Appreciating Difference / Apprécier la difference.”

We hope that your commission and study group members will reflect on this thought-provoking theme in preparing your organized sessions, papers, and posters for the 2018 meeting. In addition to a week of intellectually stimulating discussions, there will be daily talks by world luminaries and numerous field excursions in human, physical and educational geography. All abstract submissions take place from November 1st 2017 to March 15th 2018. Please find attached a PDF copy in English and French of the call for sessions, papers and poster. Additional information on the 2018 IGU-CAG Conference can be found at: <http://igu2018.ulaval.ca>

We are looking forward to hosting you and your members in Quebec City in 2018!

Sincerely,

Dr. Matthew Hatvany, president of the 2018 IGU organizing committee

Département de géographie
Université Laval
Quebec City, Quebec G1V 0A6 Canada
Email: igu2018@ulaval.ca